(b) to direct (b) the following words shall be added, namely:—
 "and contains a power holding any such property in the Royal Indian Service Reserve during and in respect of the time when he is serving in the Indian Marine Service."

STATEMENT OF GROUNDS AND REASONS.

In order to provide an opportunity for Marine service as a voluntary basis for those persons in India, who are interested in national progress, and, at the same time, to constitute a potential reserve of officers for use, as appropriate, when the officer strength of the Royal Indian Marine will require augmentation, it is proposed to issue and regulate a small Royal Indian Marine Volunteer Reserve, on much the same basis as the Army in India Reserve of Officers in the military side. This reserve will be open to Europeans, Indians and members of the disabled community, and membership of it will entail a bond of service, involving as one of the Member's duties, besides a certain amount of instruction in arms.

It is necessary that the members of this reserve force should be subject, when called upon or when called to service, to the same disciplinary code as the members of the Royal Indian Marine. This entails a small amendment of the Indian Marine Act, 1917, on the lines of the provisions already contained in the Army Act, to provide for the discipline of the Army reserve in such circumstances.

The Bill contains the amendments to the Indian Marine Act which are necessary to secure this object.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 1st February 1923:—

L.A. BILL No. 1 OF 1923.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Forest Act, 1927, for a certain purpose.

Enacted by His Excellency the Governor in Council, the Indian Forest Act, 1927, XX of 1927 for the purpose hereinafter appearing, it is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be cited the Indian Forest (Amendment) Act, 1923.

2. After clause (d) of section 2 of the Indian Forest Act, 1927, the XX of 1927 following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

"(d) 'estate' includes a Grant of Woods in respect of property under the superintendence or charge of such Court, &c."

STATEMENT OF GROUNDS AND REASONS.

Under section 26 of the Indian Forest Act (XXI of 1927) the owner of any private forest or allowed to acquire his estate that certain sections of the Act be made applicable to his forest, or that it should be managed by the Forest Officer of the Forest Department or of Government as a reserved or protected forest or such forest as may be mutually agreed upon. The Court of Woods, however, might, with advantage of that provision as it is a "private" and direct acquisition, has shown that the result has been brought to bear property. It is, therefore, necessary that the Court of Woods owner. There are also other sections in the Act applicable to certain. It has been decided, should be made applicable to a Court of Woods. The Bill is intended to achieve this object.

Bill 112

Amendment to section 2, act XXI of 1927.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 16th February 1932:—

L.A. BILL No. 4 OF 1931.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Railways Act, 1925, for a certain purpose.

12 of 1932. Whereas it is expedient further to amend the Indian Railways Act, 1925, for the purpose hereinafter appearing, it is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Indian Railways (Amendment) Act, 1932.

2. Section 128 of the Indian Railways Act, 1925 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), shall be re-enacted in substance and in (1) of section 128, 2 of section 128, and in this section as so amended the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(2) If a passenger in such case of or in connection with such means of communication with the signal or of obstructing traffic, he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine, or with both."

3. In sub-section (1) of section 131 of the said Act, after the figures "1925," the figures, word and letters "1928, sub-section (2)," shall be inserted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Excessive cases have recently occurred of cases of the nature of communication between passengers and the railway servants in charge of a train for the purpose of participating the train service. Although section 128 of the Indian Railways Act, 1925, provided for the punishment of an offender in order to deter him from committing such an offence, it has been held by certain Courts that punishment by means of the clause (2) inserted by section 128, in view of the specific provision contained in section 128, section 128, however, does not provide a punishment adequately deterrent for the aggravated case in which the clause (2) is applied with the intention of obstructing railway traffic.

2. It is proposed, therefore, by amending section 128 and (2) of the Indian Railways Act, 1925, to provide for punishment of a passenger who in the case of or in connection with such means of communication with the signal or of obstructing traffic, by intention or for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine, or with both, may also be provided for persons who pull the train chain with the intention of obstructing traffic being arrested without warrant or other written authority by any railway servant or police officer or by any other person whom such a person or officer may call to his aid.

		Act of the Governor-General in Council.
1901	V	The Revenue and Land Revenue Act, 1901.	In much detail and has been reported.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of the Bill is to make more summary amendments of a General nature in certain Acts, and to repeal certain Acts or sections thereof in the Indian Code.

The reasons for the proposed amendments and repeals are explained as follows:—

(1) The British India and Maritime Territories Act, 1901—Section 13A, which deals with the sub-sections, was enacted by section 2 of Act No. 1 of 1901. The Revenue and Land Revenue Act, 1900 introduced a new sub-section in the sub-section (1) and inserted section 2 of the Act of 1900. The repeal of this section has had the effect of repealing by implication sub-section (1) of section 13A. This was not intended. The amendment restores sub-section (1).

(2) The Revenue and Land Revenue Act, 1901—This is a General amendment. The Revenue and Land Revenue Act, 1900 has been repealed and the Revenue and Land Revenue Act, 1901 has been enacted in its place.

(3) The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1901—Enacted to amend an Act of 1900.

(4) The Indian Shipping Act, 1901—The changes correct grammatical errors.

(5) The Indian Shipping Act, 1901—The amendments are intended to supply an accidental omission and to correct wrong wording.

(6) The Indian Shipping Act, 1901—The amendments are purely formal and do not affect the substance.

(7) The Indian Shipping Act, 1901, and the Indian Shipping Act, 1901—The amendments are designed to correct a mistake made in the latter Act.

(8) The Indian Shipping Act, 1901—This is a General amendment to correct a clerical error.

(9) The Indian Shipping Act, 1901—These amendments are consequential on the disappearance of the phrase in sub-section (1) of section 13 of the Act.

(10) The Indian Shipping Act, 1901—The amendments are intended to correct a mistake made in the latter Act.

(11) The Indian Shipping Act, 1901—The amendments are intended to correct a mistake made in the latter Act.

(12) The Indian Shipping Act, 1901—This is a General amendment to correct a mistake made in the latter Act.

(13) The Indian Shipping Act, 1901—This is a General amendment to correct a mistake made in the latter Act.

(a) determining that any article or class of article shall be or shall not be wireless telegraphy apparatus for the purposes of this Act;

(b) the carrying on of personal or domestic private wireless service in contravention of this Act;

(c) the ownership and the conditions governing the lease, control, acquisition and disposal of wireless telegraphy apparatus, the form of licences, and the payment to be made for the lease and control of wireless telegraphy apparatus;

(d) the maintenance of records containing details of the acquisition and disposal by sale or otherwise of wireless telegraphy apparatus possessed by persons in wireless telegraphy apparatus; and

(e) determining the liability referred to in subsection (4) of section 6.

(3) In making a rule under this section the Governor General in Council may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend to any fixed sum of money.

XXI of 1935. XXII of 1935. (1) Nothing in this Act contained shall authorise the doing of anything in contravention of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, and no licence shall be issued under that Act until evidence has been given to the doing of which a licence is granted under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, is necessary.

Power of Governor General in Council to issue licence.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

An important source of revenue to the Indian State Broadcasting Service is the fee on licence for wireless apparatus. These licences are issued under the Indian Telegraph Act which, however, only gives power to issue licences, maintenance and working of such apparatus in Indian States. The distribution of wireless apparatus and the consequent protection of the wireless apparatus is therefore a subject in relation to which it is first necessary to issue licences to wireless apparatus and then to issue rules which may be made, maintained and worked. It is believed that the present law as regards the use of wireless telegraphy apparatus is inadequate to the extent of adversely affecting the financial position of the Indian State Broadcasting Service. It is now proposed to remedy this state of affairs by legislation to provide the Government with power to issue licences to wireless telegraphy apparatus, to maintain and working of such apparatus, and the power to make rules which may be made.

NEW DELHI,
The 21st January 1935.

P. KOPPEL.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2.—The definition of "wireless telegraphy apparatus" provided for the purpose in this term of article specially defined by rule to be wireless telegraphy apparatus.

Clause 3 provides that possession without licence of wireless telegraphy apparatus under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, includes only the construction, maintenance and working of telegraph, but does not extend to the possession of apparatus, or possession with possession without licence which can be shown that the apparatus is used.

Clawson (1990 and 1991) is prepared that parents concerning the provisions of the Act should be made to understand that parents should only be made liable after a successful claim for a refund has been preferred and with the amount of the refund due to the refund. Similarly, it is intended that provision for enforcement of the rules should require the actions of an enforcing officer.

The following Report of the School Committee on the DE is required by the activities of persons in Little's books who offer to assist. Members proposed to the Median was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 10th February 1922.

We, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the bill is referred, the attention of persons in British India who offer to undertake duties, relating to the Indian war, is hereby notified, to be considered the bill and have now the honor to submit the said Report, with the bill as amended by us and the House.

3. Sheet title and preamble — We have amended the sheet title in conformity with our decision to change the "maison" whenever it appears in the title to the expression "pays" = 'pays'.¹ Our reason for making this change is that the word "maison" is employed in other senses than the one used here by which it was used in the title.

Clause 2, sub-clause (d) - We have considered it necessary to extend the definition of "pilgrim" to cover persons who have not yet actually started on the journey to the place of pilgrimages in view of the provisions of clause 2 of the Bill which may apply to provisions made in a person's regard, as provided in a pilgrimage before such person has actually reached the place which is to be treated as a place of pilgrimage.

Editorial Note.—We have amended the definition of "pilot's guide" with the object both of making it more comprehensive and of excluding from the benefit of clause 1, where a similar amendment has been made, the measures of lower rate of local authorities.

Class 2—We have accepted that science is useful, but we desire to guard our view (1) that in psychology conditions be oriented to human life. The classroom should take into consideration the desirability of having the function of research given to people greater in the making of law and common sense, and (2) in teaching men and women (1) the legal science as it should be, and (2) the bearing of law in regard to the social sciences, that is, before giving a lesson in a given science.

Class 4.—Our comments on the definition in Class 2 explain the change which we have made in this class.

Contra II, the committee is positive that some such provision as is here proposed should be made in order to secure the prosecution of offenses of the Act. No law that is the indication of probabilities is left solely to the good will of juries, many offenses might go unpunished.

3. The Bill was published in the Gazette of India, dated the 2nd April 1937.

4. The whole book is full of interesting and useful information.

available. We have, however, decided by a majority to recommend that the Bill be not proceeded with at present. It would be difficult to measure its effectiveness in advance. These activities of progress involve the use of the Bill to encourage the present and legitimate activities such as giving priority religious advice. We are very clear that as to the efficacy of the programme served as a genuine encouragement to the society of the religious to present without any loss of time to decide. The society of the religious to present without any loss of time to decide. The society of the religious to present without any loss of time to decide.

Point of Departure means in Part II, in this Act	2. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India and subject to the sanction of previous publication, make rules— (a) prescribing the points of departure in pilgrim guides; (b) prescribing conditions which shall be inserted in such books, and (c) generally, to carry out the purposes of this Act.
